About Paco...

Paco was born in a small city located in the state of Michoacan, Mexico called, Cotija. Cotija is a charming village that lies in a valley surrounded by soaring mountains, a secret lagoon and well maintained farm lands. Within the small village the beautiful scenery continues in the cobble stone streets, the magnificent gardens and the downtowns old “Hacienda,” architecture. The people, just as unique, are warm, welcoming and kind. As Paco recalls many of the Cotijians often cooked for entire neighborhoods during annual celebrations. One of Paco’s fondest memories is of the holidays. During Christmas and New Years Paco remembers how the town would light up with amazing decorations and people would stroll the streets traveling from house to house sharing food, conversation and friendships. “It was a beautiful time. As kids we would run and play without a care in the world, because we knew we had a “BIG” family watching over us. We ate so much food and every year we met more and more people and created new and unforgettable friendships. These are the memories I will carry with me forever.”

Aside from the beautiful scenery and the friendly people, Cotija is known for their cheese, their gold and beautiful women. Cotija cheese is similar to a Bleu Cheese in that it is aged for years and when it is cut into it crumbles into small clusters. Cotija Cheese has a unique and savory flavor that many throughout Mexico enjoy. Some common uses include Quesadillas, Enchiladas, and toppings for Tacos, Tostadas and of course, Beans.

As for Cotija gold, it is considered one of the finest in Mexico. If you ever visit Cotija you won’t be surprised to see a lot of jewelers. They create, design and make the jewelry right in the stores, so customization is never a problem.

Finally, Cotija has been recognized as one of the cities in which some of the most radiant women are born in. Many songs have been written about the women of Cotija and their exquisite beauty. Maybe the beauty is inherited or maybe the women appear more beautiful in Cotija because of the gorgeous scenery that surrounds them and the outstanding hospitality that accompanies them. Whichever it may be it seems you can’t go wrong in Cotija; Admirable landscape, fabulous food, kindred people, beautiful women and impressive jewelry. What more could you ask for?
